Strategic Withdrawal To New Defense Line Is Made By Finnish Forces

LINE NOW STRONGER THAN SO FAR IN WAR

Reports Continue Of Heavy Losses Being Sustained By Russian Forces

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, Feb. 19.—Russian pressure against the hard-pressed Finnish Mannerheim line relaxed on the Carelian Isthmus today as it was revealed that Finland's commander-in-chief, Baron Karl Mannerheim, has ordered a strategic retreat from the first line defenses throughout the entire Isthmus.

Dispatches stated that the withdrawal had been carried out "magnificently" by the Finnish defenders and that the lives of many soldiers were thus saved.

New Front Lines

The Finnish front lines are now established in new, undamaged positions, stronger than those advanced lines they formerly held.

In addition, authorities said, the decrease in the strength of the Russian attack: will give the Finnish troops an opportunity to obtain a little much-needed rest.

As noon passed with no great Russian pressure against the new Finnish lines on the Isthmus, it began to appear as if the Russians also needed a rest after their tremendous series of attacks which lasted nearly three weeks.

But it was reported from Leningrad via Copenhagen that Soviet

Nazis Hail Sinking Of British Destroyer As Start Of 'Revenge'

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—German newspapers today hailed the torpedoing of the British destroyer Daring as proof of the Reich's determination to avenge the allegedly "criminal" boarding of the German steamer Altmark in a Norwegian Fjord.

At the same time, the prediction was voiced that Norway will bluntly reject Britain's demand that the Altmark and her crew be interned for duration of the war.

So far as the incident itself was concerned, German press and officialdom kept up a drumfire of criticism, giving wide prominence to a charge by the Altmark's captain that sailors from the British destroyer Cossack who boarded his vessel "looted" his quarters and those of his officers before quitting the ship with 326 British prisoners of war.

Dire Revenge Threats

On all sides, threats of dire revenge upon England for her outright violation of international law in entering Norwegian territorial waters were heard, but there was no official indication of the nature of these reprisals.

Continued pressure was brought

Reopening Of Trade School Recommended By City Superintendent

Two recommendations were made to the school board Saturday afternoon by Superintendent C. C. Green, neither of which was acted upon. The board preferred to give both recommendations more study.

The first recommendation would authorize the discontinuance of commercial arithmetic and business training in the junior high schools. These subjects are given in the tenth year of the senior high school.

In his recommendation Dr. Green said that such school systems as Pittsburgh have discontinued the subjects for the reason that conditions have changed in the junior high schools. When they were first introduced many students left school at the end of the junior high school course. Today most of them continue through senior high school. Dr. Green stated that the change would prompt economy in operation and would improve the instructional program.

Vocational Education

The second recommendation would authorize adoption of a limited vocational education program for 1940-41 with extensions later. The plan would be to open the trade school building located next to the Franklin junior high school and for the first year

French Military Adviser Arrives To Aid Finland

Special Envoy Of Western Front Commander Has Reached Helsinki Headquarters

By PETER De HEMMER GUDME

HELSINKI, Feb. 19.—A special military adviser from the French army arrived in Helsinki today, coincident with a series of violent counter-attacks by the Finnish air force on Soviet advanced positions on the Carelian Isthmus.

He was Lieutenant Colonel Jean Ganeval, described as a special envoy of General Maurice Marie Gustav Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the French and British forces on the western front.

The exact nature of his mission was not disclosed, but it was assumed his visit was in connection with France's pledge to give the Finns all possible military and material aid short of an expeditionary force.

The celebration was held in the club assembly room on Miller avenue, with leaders of the Falcons from many other districts being present.

Second Heavy Snow Develops Here On Sunday

Traffic Badly Hampered On Sunday Afternoon And Night By Storm

MAIN HIGHWAYS ARE ALL KEPT OPEN

Autoists Have Hard Going On Side Streets And Secondary Highways

Just as the local district was recovering from the effects of last week's record snow, another storm struck the district Sunday afternoon, snow and rain falling alternately until midnight, and traffic conditions were as bad as they were the middle of last week. Sunday's snow being unusually wet and heavy, making motor traffic difficult. The equivalent of approximately ten inches of snow fell, part of which was in the form of rain and sleet.

Many householders made no attempt to clean the snow off their walks, and the going was extremely difficult for pedestrians also, the snow being close to six inches in depth before it began slowly melting down. By morning, a slushy residue covered the ground and while motor cars were able to get about a little better, it was still hard going for pedestrians.

Keep Traffic Routes Open

State highway department and city street department forces, just recovering from the battle with the snow which fell during the week started in to do the job all over again. The main thoroughfares and main highways were kept passable, but side streets and aide roads are in bad condition. It is almost impossible for motorists to get around without chains, as a great many have found to their sorrow, having had to summon aid to get out of ditches into which they skidded.

The temperature was above the freezing point from the time it started to snow until this morning, and the wet covering was slowly melting. Weather forecasts indicated colder weather late today or tomorrow.

While all the main highways are practically clear of snow in the county, many of the secondary roads are still snowbound, highway department officials stated this morning, and some country schools were still unable to open today, it

Defenses Of Panama Canal Are Inspected By President Roosevelt

THIRD SET OF LOCKS MAY BE SUGGESTED

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, Feb. 19.—Construction of a third set of locks through the Panama canal was weighed seriously today as President Roosevelt headed into the Pacific ocean aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa toward unannounced fishing grounds.

The president headed out to sea after an inspection of the Panama canal's defenses, and it was obvious that he was pleased by the improvements instituted in the canal's defenses since 1938—particularly by the presence of the latest type bombers and pursuit planes.

Speculation, meanwhile, was keen in the canal zone regarding developments when President Roosevelt returns for his Atlanic transit and greets President Augusto Boyd of Panama.

Snowfall Occurs In Most Of State

Fall Is Reported From One To 16 Inches At Various Points

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—The State Highway Department worked feverishly today to clear highways of a snowfall that blanketed Pennsylvania for the second time within five days.

Depths ranging from one-half to 16 inches of snow were reported throughout most of the state as highway maintenance crews renewed their battle to clear roads. No highways were reported closed.

Latest reports received by the department indicated the storm was sweeping toward New York City as two inches of snow was falling early today in Lackawanna, Luzerne and Pike counties.

Highway department officials said the fall was 12 to 16 inches in McKean and Potter counties, while other northern tier counties reported snow ranging from three to nine inches deep.

Department officials reported snow from one to four inches fell in Western Pennsylvania and from three to 10 inches in the southeastern section.

Only the east-central part of the state escaped the latest fall. Sleet which fell during the night turned to rain early today making roads dangerous.

Britain Awaits Reply To Protest To Norway

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Germany's threat to avenge the liberation of 32€ British prisoners of war from the "hell ship" Altmark in Norwegian waters had its first result today when the 1,375-ton British destroyer Daring was torpedoed and sunk with an apparent loss of 157 lives.

Loss of the Daring was announced as the British government brought heavy pressure to bear upon Norway to intern the Altmark and the surviving members of its crew for duration of the war.

At the same time, the government awaited a reply from Oslo to a complaint lodged by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax against the failure of Norway to establish the presence of British prisoners aboard the Altmark while it was at Bergen.

Complaint Lodged

Lord Halifox lodged the British complaint in a talk with the Norwegian minister, Erik Colban, when the latter called at the foreign office to deliver his government's "serious protest" against "gross violation" of Norway's rights when the British cruiser Cossack invaded Norwegian waters and rescued British seamen from the Altmark.

While the government awaited Norway's reply to Lord Halifax's representations, it was pointed out that there were bound to be considerable delays on both sides since there is no actual precedent in international law covering the Altmark situation. The matter, British authorities stated, needs considerable research and consultation among legal experts.

It was firmly reiterated, however, that Britain has no intention of acceeding to the Norwegian demand for return of the British seamen freed from the German prison ship.

United States newspaper editorials and opinions of American legal experts agreeing with the British stand were read attentatively by British authorities.

First German Naval Blow Since British Freed Captive Seamen

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The 1,375-ton British destroyer Daring has been torpedoed and sunk, with the apparent loss of 157 officers and men, it was announced today.

Officials said that nine officers and 148 ratings were missing and feared to have been lost when the Daring was sent to the bottom.

The sinking of the Daring was the first major German naval blow against Britain since the rescue of British seamen by the cruiser Cossack from the Nazi prison ship Altmark.

The Altmark case caused Germany to declare virtually unrestricted submarine warfare against British vessels.

In addition, it was considered noteworthy that the announcement marked the first time that it had been stated officially that a British destroyer was sunk by a torpedo.

Says Balkans May Now Be Partitioned

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Russia and Germany may join forces and occupy and partition the Balkans in the next few weeks, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, prophesied today on the basis of reports he has received from correspondents abroad.

Italy's action in such an eventuality is uncertain, Dr. Butler said. Should the Balkans be overrun by the Russians and Germans, the British and French might decide against military strategy to halt the move and establish a new defense front in the east such as they now have in the west, Dr. Butler continued. The two sets of belligerents would then "settle down to a prolonged, economic struggle," he said.

Garner Enters Oregon Primary

Vice President Pushes Drive

Enters Third State In Direct Contest With Roosevelt For Delegates

THIRD TERM WILL FACE HARD BATTLE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In a third direct contest with President Roosevelt on the third term issue, Vice President John N. Garner today had decided to enter his name in the Oregon presidential primary.

Garner already has entered his name in the Wisconsin (April 2) and Illinois (April 9) primaries in which local Democrats entered slates of delegates pledged to a third term for the president. He will send his name into Oregon's May 17 contest within the next few days.

Manager Named

The Garner campaign in Oregon will be managed by General Charles H. Martin, former representative and former governor. Martin is one of the far west's greatest characters, being a veteran of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine, Pekin and Mexican border expeditions, and the World war. Garnerites believe the vice president will win Oregon's 10 Democratic delegates under Martin's leadership.

Friends of Garner also expect him to win Wisconsin's 24-vote delegation from the Roosevelt third term forces, largely because there will be two Roosevelt slates in the contest. This conflict among third-termers in Wisconsin represents a battle between two factions of Democrats to control the state Democratic organization. In Illinois, the Garnerites are not so hopeful, but there they expect to win, some down-states votes in the delegation of 58.

The Garner organization also expects to win California's 44 delegates, unless President Roosevelt comes out directly for a third term. Unless the president declares himself, his name cannot be entered in that state's primary. Garner already has given his written consent to entering the primary that he carried in 1932.

NEW FRONT LINE IS ESTABLISHED BY FINNISH TROOPS

War Commissar Klementi Voroshilov had ordered the capture of Viborg "at all costs" before Feb. 23, the anniversary of the founding of the Red army.

Meanwhile, Finnish authorities and the public still believed optimistically that Finland will receive additional aid from abroad in her hour of need.

"Help can still save us, and we believe that it is coming," were the words heard everywhere in Helsinki today.

Meager reports from the northern Kuhmo sector of Finland's eastern frontier appeared to indicate that a major Finnish victory is developing there.

Russians Lose 3,000

These reports said the Russians have lost 3,000 men on that sector in a series of bitter battles as well as much war material which is now being rushed to the Isthmus to buttress the Finnish defenses there.

(The Rome radio quoted a dispatch from Stockholm stating the Finns routed two Soviet divisions on the Kuhmo sector, according to Reuters News Agency.)

All over Finland yesterday the Russian carried out a large number of air raids. Several trains were attacked with bombs and machine guns and one was gutted by fire. Many civilians were reported killed and wounded.

To provide more men for action at the front, President Kyosti Kallio pardoned all convicts serving terms of one year or less.

Along with the cessation of Russian activity against the Mannerheim line, there were multiplying advices of assaults by the Finnish air force against the Russian front lines, troop concentrations to the rear and supply lines leading back to major Soviet bases.

The Finnish air force, growing in strength, is now said to be capable of hampering the Russian forces on the Isthmus to a major degree.

In the battle zone just north of Lake Ladoga the Finns also successfully defeated Russian troops, killing an asserted 700.

Forty-five persons were reported killed in yesterday's Russian air raids throughout southern Finland, but Helsinki authorities claimed that 37 Soviet planes had been shot down.

nouncements usually said the destroyers sank as a result of explosions and that the exact cause was not determined.

Admiralty Report

The admiralty communique announcing the loss stated:

"The secretary of the admiralty regrets to announce that the destroyer Daring, under Commander S. Cooper, has been torpedoed and sunk.

"One officer and four ratings have been picked up. Nine officers and 148 ratings are missing and feared to have been lost. Their next of kin have been informed."

(The Daring was one of eight destroyers of the defense class. It carried a normal complement of 145 men, to which war-time reserves had been added. The vessel, capable of a speed of 36 knots, was armed with four 4.7 inch guns, six smaller weapons and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes. The destroyer was completed late in 1932.)

German Freighters Captured

Loss of the Daring was announced shortly after the admiralty revealed that two German freighters had been captured by the Allied naval forces.

A British warship brought to a westerly port the captured German steamer Morea, a 1,927-ton vessel, which was carrying a 3,000-ton cargo of manganese. Its crew and 30 officers and men was interned.

Another announcement said the French navy had captured the German freighter Rostock, 2,542 tons, which had been accompanying the Morea.

A German seaman from the Morea said:

"We were exasperated after idling in a Spanish port since the war began. We decided to risk our luck and race home."

The Morea stole out to sea, he related, under cover of a storm, but clearing skies betrayed it to a warship which placed a prize crew aboard the German freighter, which offered no resistance.

Apparently the crew made no attempt to scuttle the Morea.

Scrapers kept the main streets of the city open, being operated throughout the night. The traction company also had its sweeper operating, and while street car traffic was not on schedule, due to stalled autos on the hills, cars were able to operate on all the lines.

Traffic is the most difficult on the side streets, particularly those which lead off from the streets from which snow has been cleaned by the city scrapers, as it has piled snow and slush up at the entrance to the street.

Apparently, more snow fell in the area south and east of the city than it did here, and north of this district.

Motorists who came in from northern points last evening, stated that they did not have much difficulty until they arrived at the county line and from there on into the city proper, conditions were at their worst.

Announcement by the County Commissioners that a 25 per cent reduction in the county tax rate has been designated for the year, is pleasing news throughout the county. Lawrence County with a rate of 4½ mills will have one of the lowest rates of any county in the state, this year. The county tax rate has been steadily reduced for several years past.

There are a number of boys in this city that will find themselves in trouble of a serious nature some of these days, if they do not cease their practice of tampering with the meters in the parking meters system. Apparently it is the aim of the boys to tamper with the meters in an effort to draw the nickels out of the meters.

One New Castle Miss, sporting open-toed pumps, invited a bout with the flue in her "installment plan" jaunt into New Castle from Ellwood City at the close of Sunday's storm. Her car bogged down in high snow on the highway enroute, and the stall started things. She hiked a mile over the slushy snow to a gas station, and waited for a bus. The bus finally came, but it, too, had difficulties enroute. Finally, in town, she dashed for a North Hill car, only to discover trolleys weren't spared in the blizzard. After an hour-long wait she boarded a car—and hoped nothing else would intercept her the rest of the way home. Yet she kept smiling through it all.

to teach classs in machine shop practice, electricity, welding and drafting.

Both federal and state aid would be available for the work, Dr. Green stated, and he estimates the net cost of opening the building and employing teachers would be $14,200. This includes four teachers for the shops which would be under the direction of the senior high school and three teachers for the junior high schools who would teach industrial art subjects. The net cost includes salaries, rehabilitation of shops, supplies and equipment and operation of shops.

Under the plan Elmer Delancy would be transferred to the senior high school as guidance director of the course and his present position filled by an elementary teacher whose place would not be filled. George Thomas, at present a teacher in the senior high school, would be employed as a drafting teacher and his place in the senior high school would not be filled.

An additional course, that of home economics in the junior high schools for girls is presented as a possibility but it is explained that it is not mandatory. This would add about $4000 to the budget.

The recommendations are being considered along with the budget which is in the making. A meeting of the budget committee followed the board meeting Saturday afternoon.

MANY KINDS OF PENALTIES

One who lives in Pennsylvania or Lawrence county does not need to drive through a red light, stop sign or commit some other crime to be fined. If he happens to be a man or woman who has worked hard and saved his money; pays taxes to keep people who do not work; maybe lends a few dollars to a few people who are hard up, and takes their note; or takes a note from someone who cannot pay their bill, and does this in order to make himself safe, should anything happen; and files same or hides it in a secret drawer in the cellar, a number of these notes never pay a penny interest and some of them never one cent paid on the principal, he is a criminal and the county and state make him pay a fine for doing this. It is not always the amount of the fine, but it is the trouble that it puts business men and thrifty people to making out papers. If our Governor expects to keep people in Pennsylvania there are a lot of taxes that he will have to cut out, as there are many other states that do not have these bothersome taxes.

I am for a sales tax for everybody, but not a sales tax on top of what we have now, but one to reduce and take away a lot that we have. HATS OFF to our past and present county commissioners. They act like business men, even though holding public office.

Who will dramatize the popular New York comedy, "THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER"

At the moment, "THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER" is rolling into national popularity. George Kaufman's adept showmanship turned this riotous cartoon of America's screen and airlined celebrities into rich comedy. Taking his good friend and boon companion, Alexander Woolcott, by the seat of his ample pants, he has landed him in a wheel chair in the wilds of a middle western town, disguised as Sheridan Whiteside, radio speaker, lecturer and friend of the great.

Miss Stetson's ability to project herself into the various roles of this comedy, virtually bringing them to life, promises excellent entertainment.

Miss Stetson will be presented at 2:30 p. m. at the Castleton Hotel, Thursday, February 22nd.

You will be entranced with the charm and beauty of the collection of unusual millinery. Original Louie Miller models have been obtained for a one day showing through special arrangements with the designer.

APPROACHING THE CROSS ROADS

IT IS a popular custom in national campaign years to say that America is now at the cross roads, that the election just ahead is the most important in the history of the country.

Yet it is truer this year than any since the dark days of the Civil War that the people of the nation are really "at the crossroads." This time it is no mere figure of speech. For seven years we have been traveling a new and untried path in the experience of America. Many of the old principles have been thrown overboard. Principles of states' rights and individual responsibility have been disregarded for a new federal bureaucracy at Washington and national paternalism. The old axioms concerning thrift have been set aside. The government has sought to spend us into prosperity. Orthodox theories of finance have gone by the boards. We have been buying the world's gold and silver at nearly fifty per cent more than it is worth and burying the yellow metal in the hills of Kentucky. It is now unlawful for the individual to possess gold coin.

We have largely repudiated the idea of individual enterprise and put the government into private business. Our indebtedness has doubled and about reached the legal limit of forty-five billions of dollars.

There are disciples of the new dispensation who insist that we must go forward on the path which has been cut out for us by the New Deal. They are preparing to put on a great drive to see to it that President Roosevelt be nominated and elected for a third term because there is no one else who can continue to keep these novel policies in effect.

On the other hand, there are sound, keen statesmen among us who say that if we continue on this road we are sure to reach the brink of national disaster. Only by a turn to the right do they say, adopting the sound and time-tried standards of the past, can we make America prosperous and happy again.

It may be truly said therefore that Americans are at the crossroads. They must choose in November which way they intend to go. Will it be to the left and more socialistic experimentation or toward the right, and adoption of orthodox methods?

There can be no turning back. We cannot revert to the calm and peaceful debt-free days we knew before the World War, any more than we can turn back the calendar. We must go forward. What the people must decide is which path they will choose.

ON WINGS OF HOPE

Mrs. Robert A. Taft, wife of the Senator from Ohio, hopes to be the next First Lady. More, she is doing her level best to further that hope by active participation in the campaign of her husband for the Republican nomination, ingratiating herself in his name with all sorts of people and showing a willingness to make speeches wherever opportunity beckons.

This seems to establish a precedent so far as concerns wives of aspirants for major party nominations for the highest office in the land. She believes woman's place may be just as much in politics as in the home, after two decades of the Twentieth Amendment.

Probably Mrs. Taft is wisely discreet in refusing to discuss her conduct if and when she finds herself the mistress of the White House, realizing that there are more rivers than the Potomac to cross. Evidently there is often in her mind the present First Lady. But Mrs. Taft takes no leaf from Mrs. Roosevelt's book when she says that she and her husband think alike and that all decisions rest with him.

Mrs. Roosevelt's activities are more toward social slumming and uplook than to actual political activity. They take her the country over, and to ubiquity she adds uniqueness. She is sui generis and cannot be successfully imitated, even if Mrs. Taft's inclinations ran in that direction.

WHERE WAR MONEY COMES FROM

Now disclosed from time to time is a situation from which may come eventually an answer to the universal question, to wit, what are some of the impoverished nations now at war using for money?

There was a recurrence of it when a member of the Japanese parliament demanded to see the army budget. Of course his demand was rejected, the war minister, Hata, even stopping the stenographers from recording the debate. But the demand will be repeated and some day one in authority will be compelled to explain the money mystery. The jam which Japan currently enjoys with America promises to compel it.

The Japanese people, patriots all, are very angry with America. They feel that America is squeezing Japan in trade in order to force her to get out of China. They are in favor of the Japanese army remaining in China and cleaning up the "job." But it hasn't been done in the last three years and it doesn't look as if it would be done in the next three.

It has been possible for Japan to keep the war in China going because the Japanese at home were busy industrially and could provide, through taxes, war revenue. With the Japanese idle—and they will be idle with their chief market, the United States, gone—they will not be able to provide through taxes enough war revenue to continue the China conquest.

When that day comes and Japan reaches the conclusion to quit in China it will be plain for all men to see that when a nation without funds makes war it takes the sinews thereof out of the hide of its people.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELPING CHILD KEEP FAITH

Did it ever occur to you how often some parent will tempt another parent's child to violate his own conscience and induce that child to do things his parents don't want him to do? It often happens that the tempter has standards different from the standards of the other parent, and assumes the latter are not worthy of respect. But regardless of the virtue of the standards to which another child is held, we do him violent moral injury when we tempt him to disregard those standards to which he has, through effort and self-sacrifice, tried to uphold.

A mother writes: "I have a little girl, eight and one half years. One afternoon during the week of our Passover she visited a friend of mine. While there she was offered some ice cream along with this woman's two children and two others. Very politely my child refused the ice cream and thanked her, telling her she wasn't allowed to eat it.

Thought Her Wrong

"My friends told her that if the other children could, so could she, but she still refused. My friend didn't like that very well and called me on the telephone to tell me I was wrong in teaching my child to act like that. She said children of that ago don't have to observe the holiday so strictly. I told her that I understood that, but if my child felt inclined to keep it, why should I disillusion her?

"Here's how it came about. In the beginning of the holiday my little girl was very much interested to know all about it and what we were allowed to do and eat during that week, so naturally I told her. I think any mother would. I did not insist on it or frighten the child that she would be punished if she didn't do what was right, but what I told her on that first day seemed to leave an impression, and I think she showed a strong character by not being tempted."

Recalls Experience

Sometimes we err when off guard. For example, I recall that on a few occasions I offered candy during Lent to a faithful Catholic youth. But as soon as I was reminded by him that "it is Lent," I apologized and told him I admired his strength of character—and I really did.

Instead of tempting children knowingly to violate their conscience, let us strive to encourage them to abide by their convictions. We need more people who have convictions and the stuff of character to stick to them—so long, of course, as they do not infringe upon the sacred rights of others. That they should have standards different from ours is not the question at all.

And here let me beg of all adults that they do not give the visiting child candy or other food between meals, until they are very sure he is so treated at home.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TRY IT ANYWAY

Down Boston way, in its suburb Cambridge, a group of responsible citizens have organized a corporation for the purpose of demonstrating that private capital can provide decent, low-cost housing. They have bought five old frame houses in East Cambridge and intend to place them attractively around a court, modernize their interiors and rent apartments at considerably less than the rates charged at Newtowne, the Federal housing project, in Cambridge. They are confident that the enterprise will yield a small return on the capital invested and, of course, they will pay full taxes to the city.

This Cambridge group is challenging the oft made and generally accepted statement that private capital cannot or will not concern itself with the eradication of substandard housing. Under the leadership of experienced real estate men, they have thoroughly studied the situation in their home city. Because as private persons they can act much more quickly and economically than a government agency, they have been able to purchase their first piece of property at an extremely small price. This gives them a big advantage at the start. Then, operating with almost no overhead, they expect to be able to do the necessary rebuilding quickly and cheaply.

Will the enterprise be a financial success? The answer, of course, cannot be known for several years. But it's launching is in itself significant and encouraging.

No intelligent friend or government-financed slum clearance will oppose this new Cambridge venture. The long-range purpose of the Wagner housing act was to promote a revival of private building.

At the present, there is room for both publicly and privately financed housing projects. No one can visit the slovenly section of American cities and not realize that. But eventually this enterprise gives hope that it will be soon—private enterprise should and probably must take over the major part of the work.

The great drawback to slum clearance is the lack of tenants intelligent enough to use a bath tub for bathing and not a coal hod.

The highlight of my fan mail this morning reads: "I am a high school boy, smitten on a girl who moves in higher circles. Very soon, I will go to her house to dinner. Please wise me up on how to do my stuff so as to appear as a real socialite."

My answer: If it is a formal dinner wear a tail-coat suit, with a wing collar, white tie and white waistcoat. If it is an informal dinner party, wear a dinner jacket (tuxedo) with black tie. If it is just a family dinner, wear your best business suit. Leave your overcoat hat and street gloves in the hall. When you enter the parlor, greet your host and hostess first. What's What At A Glance

Green Plan Has Possibilities
Co-Ordination Idea Advanced
Economic Improvement Sought

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.

Through there's lots of it, agriculture is spread out so thin, it's so unconcentrated, that it doesn't respond very promptly to a suggestion which undoubtedly was intended to be for a joint good of urban labor, capitalistic employerdom, agriculture and everybody else. The plan—to get all these together, to hit on a program for their common benefit, all around was put forward the other day by President William Green of the A F. of L. He might have included distributors and consumers generally, too. However, these omissions unquestionably were a mere oversight. Green obviously meant the whole population.

He says the A. F. of L wants congress to create a permanent advisory board to co-ordinate the interests of all hands. He recognizes that these interests are inter-dependent. He speaks of "economic recovery" as his objective.

The New Deal, to be sure, assumes that it's accomplished "economic recovery" already, but Bill Green evidently thinks not—he complains of plenty of unemployment yet — of young folks who can't "break in, and older folks who prematurely are "squeezed out".

He blames government also, for having developed a popular "jittery state of mind." He not only wants "economic improvement"— he wants it in perpituity.

Back To The N. R. A.

His scheme somewhat dates back to the now defunct N. R. A., which was abandoned as a fizzle.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney likewise has a congressional committee, engaged in an attempt to readjust old-time conditions to modern days. But O'Mahoney's committee advertise itself as "emporary."

Bell Green urges a set-up forever of "industry, labor and agriculture.

Captains of industry are rather unexpectedly quite acquiescent. In not such very olden days they weren't overly ready to listen to hints from labor sources. Now they seem disposed to discuss William Green's scheme reasonably enough. Several of them already have expressed themselves, through the press, pretty favorably.

The fact that the A. F. of L. head was the individual to put forward the idea of an industrial-labor agricultural alliance seems to imply that the organized workers are in more placatory mood than they used to be.

Labor on the other hand, evidently realizes that it, too, suffers when the employers are financially distressed. The employers, on the opposite hand, have come to recognize that good pay enables the workers to be better buyers of the former's merchandise.

The past decade has been mutually educational to them.

Agriculture isn't so promptly heard from in response to President Green's recommendation. That probably is because the farmers are so widely scattered that they're not readily vocal. However, maybe they'll be friendly to the Green program, too, as they get to talking about it.

Getting Together

The nub of it is:

Labor, hitherto inclining somewhat in the direction of radicalism, apparently, if Bill Green voices its views correctly, is tending moderately in the direction of mild conservatism. It complains of high taxes, as having forced a lot of big employing concerns into the "red", to the injury, not only of themselves but to their employes. "Sock the rich!" no longer is as popular a slogan as it was.

Correspondingly, hitherto strongly conserving big industrialists appear, judging from its spokesmen's published remarks, to be swinging toward a more liberal attitude. It's occurred to them that they can't make money except from a generally prosperous country.

The initial symptoms are all to the good, anyway.

WINTER GOLFER

Behold him sitting at the fire
Where all his dreams come true!
Possessor of his heart's desire.
The sky a summer blue.
At last the fairways perfect are
The greens a joy to play
And every drive is straight and far
And rivals only stray.

The winter golfer smiles to think
Upon his new-found skill;
His every putt is sure to sink
Side, downwards or up-hill.
Drift snow against the clubhouse door,
Blow, blow ye wintry blast,
No eights tonight can spoil his score!
He's on his game at last!

Around the course in even par!
And easily 'twas done!
When rightly played how straight and far
The little ball will run!
Oh magic of the follow-through,
Oh smooth and rhythmic swing
Around the course in seventy-two!
How far away is spring?

Oh should we wake him with a start
To say when spring returns,
He'll find that golf is still an art
The duffer seldom learns.
Or were it kinder just to smile,
As on a boastful boy
And leave him for a little while
His dreaming to enjoy.

The Great Game Of Politics

Foreordained Futility

Washington, Feb. 19.

IT CAN HARDLY be said that the President's emissary, the Under Secretary of State, Mr. Sumner Welles, who, with the hope of promoting peace, has just sailed to visit four different European nations—three of them belligerents—leaves here, or inspires over there, any real expectation of accomplishment.

HE IS not really a mission—he is a gesture and, except for purposes of publicity and domestic politics, one foreordained to futility. Certainly, that is the view of informed realists in and out of the State Department. For this belief they have some very sound reasons—particularly as concern the two key nations—Germany and England. Consider for a moment Mr. Welles' position as to Germany. He goes there as a representative of a Government frankly anti-Hitler and almost immediately following another speech by the President in which he again indicts the brutality of European dictators and their indefensible methods and aggressions—a speech, of course, aimed directly at Hitler and Stalin.

THE foreign policy of the Administration is recognized as pro-Ally and members of the President's Cabinet have savagely denounced the German Fuhrer and the whole Nazi philosophy. Unquestionably, they reflect the feeling of the country, but it is not reasonable to expect that Mr. Welles, who also reflects that sentiment and is a subordinate official, in a week's visit will receive information, confidences or encouragement not already possessed by our representatives. He is much more likely to be given coldly polite expressions of resentment. He may not even be received by Hitler.

AS to England, Mr. Welles is not the most felicitous selection. Nor does he visit that country at a fortunate moment for talk of the kind he is scheduled to make. In the first place, he is known as the sponsor of the so-called Panama agreement, creating that 300-mil-wide, 15,000-mile-long zone in the Atlantic Ocean—an utterly absurd and unenforceable proposition, which, if the British observed, would badly handicap them and help their German enemies. In the second place, the Treasury has just made a decision which is viewed by the British as extremely unnecessary, unfriendly and injurious. It does, in fact seem impossible to reconcile with a friendly foreign policy. It seems the reverse of that.

THE facts can be simply stated. The vital need of the British is airships with which to combat a superior German force. They can get these only from us. In order to speed up production, the British are provid-

FAREWELL PARTY

One of the most successful parties the Bessemer Girl Scouts have had was the Valentine box social held Thursday evening in the Presbyterian church basement, in the form of a farewell party for Hope Chaddock, a charter member and patrol leader, who is moving to Ulrichville, O.

Each girl brought a guest and all entered into the games, singing and folk dancing. The girls surprised Hope with a shower of lovely gifts and she responded appropriately inviting the scouts to visit her.

Escorts then claimed the gaily decorated lunch boxes and it was decided that Doris Carr's box should receive first prize.

POLISH FALCONS HAVE CELEBRATION

Macios was heard in a reading "I Am An Orphan" and was followed by the Polish Cadets orchestra.

Anthony Sawestra, president of Beaver Falls Nest brought greetings from his organization and Col. T A Starzynski, national president of the Falcons, spoke briefly. He dwelt at some length upon the need in Poland today and urged the Falcons and their friends to continue their relief work. A collection was taken up for the relief fund, $48.82 being taken in.

The Falconettes, a ladies' chorus from Beaver Falls were heard in several choral numbers. Judge W Walter Braham was introduced and in his address complimented the Falcons upon their activity among young men and boys. Pete Klamut, vice president of the Falcons, expressed the appreciaton of the organization for the co-operation that made possible the celebration.

Evening Program

In the evening the celebration included a dinner which was served by the women of the Komisya Sokolic, headed by Mrs. Jennie Golis. Stanley Augustyn was the toastmaster of the evening and handled his duties in his usual capable fashion. For entertainment in the evening the Falconettes of Beaver Falls were heard again, tiny little Arlene Kolodjeski was seen in a tap dance, accompanied by Jean Bartsch, and the Cadets orchestra was heard again. A one-act play entitled, "The Old Country Doctor" was presented by a group of Falcons from the Beaver Falls Nest.

Judge Braham was on the program in the evening meeting also and this time dwelt upon the responsibility the Falcons had in lending their aid to the cause of law enforcement. "You have a powerful organization," said he, "and if you have the will to do it, can become a powerful force for good in our community."

Col. Starzynski was heard again and made a further plea for stricken Poland. Other speakers included Councilman Joseph Alexander, John C. Wajert, president of the Polish Central Council; Pete Gerlach, president of the K. Pulaski club; Stanley Snezek, president of the Ygelda club; Mrs. J. C. Wajert, president of Orlich; Paul Suszynski, president of the Polish National Alliance; Bart Richards, Anthony Sowestra, of Beaver Falls; Pete Klamut, vice president of the Falcons.

The anniversary was a successful commemoration of thirty years of work. In that time the Falcons have made themselves felt both in the cause of citizenship athletics and civic affairs generally.

Burn Dry Garbage Request Of Davies

Street Department Being Aided By Garbage Trucks, Employes

D. O. Davies, director of public safety, which includes the department of garbage, today advised housewives to burn in furnaces whatever dry garbage they may have.

"If, this is done it will help the garbage department" he explained, adding that recently garbage bureau trucks and employes had been assisting the streets department to remove snow.

Davies also stated that it would be almost impossible for the garbage trucks to negotiate alleys, ridged with deep gulleys and therefore asked that dry garbage be burned.

Finnish Loan Will Depend On Her War Success

U. S. Loan Not To Be Made If Finland Suddenly Meets Defeat

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Whether Finland gets additional federal money from this country "depends to a substantial degree on her success in the field in the next few weeks," Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones told the House banking committee today.

"You can't expect us to lend her $20,000,000 if she should suddenly be defeated before we made the loan," he said.

"We'd have to re-examine the situation. I think she would be given some money in any case. I'm sure she would get some if she were still fighting."

Earlier, the administrator told the committee if Russia should formally declare war on Finland, President Roosevelt, himself would have to decide whether the Baltic republic could get a loan from us.

Power Lines Not Affected Much By Heavy Storm

Power lines in Lawrence county suffered little from the snow and sleet storm which raged Sunday, according to attaches of the Pennsylvania Power company.

The Beaver Falls district suffered worse, several lines having been forced down. The fury of the storm apparently swept through a path from Beaver Falls to Ellwood City vicinity.

There were some surges on local lines due to a heavy coat of sleet on the 66,000-volt line of the Pennsylvania Power company, which connects with the Duquesne Light company line.

The high wind flipped the wires together and caused momentary outages, or interruptions, in the Zelienople district. There was also an outage at Wurtemburg, where sleet felled primary lines. There also was a small interruption at Mt. Jackson.

Woman Confesses Torture Murder

Salesman Who Gave Man And Woman Ride In His Car Is Slain

(International News Service)

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 19.—A 24-year-old gun-toting woman bandit was held for grand jury action today on murder charges after police said she confessed the torture and murder of J. P. Calloway, a Houston, Tex., salesman who had given her and a male companion a ride in his car.

The woman, Mrs. Claude D. Henry, was quoted by Sheriff Henry A. Reed as relating that she and her companion, who she termed "a yellow rat" but refused to name, had been picked up by Calloway near Vinton, La., and had ridden with him through Lake Charles before the woman shot him.

Coroner E. L. Clements said Calloway had been inhumanly tortured. His body bore marks of a pair of pliers, and he had been forced to ride cramped in the small rear compartment of the car for many miles in freezing temperatures, the coroner said.

Sunday School Campaign Report Is Presented

Good progress was made by the Sunday Schools participating in the "Loyalty" increase campaign that is being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and the third Sunday of the eight weeks campaign that ends with Easter, was the best to date.

In the first, New Castle, group, the Highland U. P. took a spurt and registered a fine increase, followed by the Epworth Methodist. In the second, New Castle, group, the First Christian still has a commanding lead, and the First Presbyterian had an unusually fine attendance and stepped into second place. The Second U. P. also had a nice gain and is in third place. In the third, New Castle, group, the Central Presbyterian annexed 57 points and is in first place. In the fourth, New Castle, group, the Madison Avenue Christian "went to town in a big way" and holds first place closely followed by the St. John's Lutheran and the Mahoningtown Presbyterian.

The reports of the Sunday Schools outside of New Castle are not all in, and some will be run in later issues of this paper this week. However, in Wilmington District the Neshannock Presbyterian had a good attendance and gained 51 points, and the East Brook U. P. had 29 points. In the Mt. Jackson District the total points to date are as follows: Bessemer Presbyterian, 99; Westfield Presbyterian, 68; Mt. Jackson U. P., 68; Bethel U. P. (incomplete) 19; Edenburg Christian (incomplete), 10; Edenburg Methodist, 8, and Hillsville Methodist, 2. In the Wampum group, the Wampum Methodist leads with 163 points, followed by the Moravia Presbyterian with 115 points, the Wampum Presbyterian with 79, the West Pittsburg Methodist with 30, the Clinton Methodist with 23, the Newport Methodist with 21, and the Chewton Christian (incomplete with 10. In the Slippery Rock district the Neshannock U. P. has a good start with 15 points.

ing the capital to American factories for expansion. The Treasury now decides that this capital is to be taxed as income. For example, if the British put up a million dollars for a factory expansion, the Treasury regards that as income of the factory and takes $600,000 in taxes, which, of course, the British have to pay one way or the other. Naturally, they resent this and naturally they will ekpress that feeling to Mr. Welles, who, so loosely are things coordinated here and so great the administrative confusion, probably does not know anything about it. There is reason to believe, too, that the President himself is not aware of its effect. The British think it a blow in the back.

IN ENGLAND, our Ambassador, Mr. Kennedy, who will have returned to his post before Mr. Welles reaches there, has been singularly successful. While keeping his balance and not adopting its cause as his own, nevertheless, he has had the complete confidence of the British Government and nothing has been withheld from him. An evidence of this is that he brought home and turned over to the Treasury a complete list of every British-owned security in the United States—a list given him by the Government for our information.

THAT Mr. Welles, in a week's time, could get any information, assurances or confidences that Mr. Kennedy has not already had is obviously impossible The same thing is true of Mr. Bullitt in France and of Mr. Phillips in Italy. Mr. Welles is known to have no concrete proposal or even suggestion from the President to lay before the belligerents. He can express the pious hope that peace will prevail and the desire of this country to bring it about. But that hope and desire already has been expressed by the President in documentary form. As for a "survey" of the field, what Mr. Welles, galloping about four big countries in four weeks, can obtain that the President already has not had from Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Bullitt, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Kirk, it is not easy to see. The truth is that no one in the State Department thinks Mr. Welles will discover anything.

CERTAINLY, the above-mentioned Ambassadors do not think so. Of course, they openly approve the trip and would deny any quotation tending to show otherwise. But, Mr. Bullitt, for one, has made very little secret of the way he feels about this "survey." To sum up, except for the purpose of keeping the European war more conspicuously in the public mind than domestic happenings, the visit of Mr. Welles seems a particularly foolish one. The palace politicians applaud because it helps create the desired but inaccurate impression that Mr. Roosevelt is not concerned about politics in this country but about world peace and that no one else can handle our foreign affairs with the same competency. Hence, they argue, it is necessary to keep him as President. But, to the really discerning, this half-thoughtout trip of Mr. Welles proves the exact opposite of that.

Railroads Have No Trouble From Sunday Storm

District railroads reported 'no trouble" from the storm of Sunday afternoon and evening.

"It was the kind of a snow that permits a locomotive to plough right on over the right-of-way, laboriously," one road official explained. "We experienced no difficulties."

Pennsylvania Railroad divisional headquarters on the West Side, in touch with the entire Erie & Ashtabula Division territory—reaching into Ohio and to Lake Erie—was told the snowfall "was about the same" over that territory.

Some trains on some roads were minutes off schedule, but, considering the storm's intensity, those delays were not held very serious. Crack limiteds passing through from the east and mid-west maintained schedules through Sunday afternoon and last night.

Relief Rolls In State Increase

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Reflecting winter increases in relief needs and curtailment of both W. P. A. and private employment, Pennsylvania's relief rolls increased again for the week ending February 10, the Department of Public Assistance reported today.

The net increase was 1550 persons, or 629 families, bringing the total relief roll to 606,006 persons.

The total cost for assistance grants during the week was $1,435,193, $13,502 increase over the previous week.

Of aid to the state in slowing up the increase was the transfer of 1378 old-age assistance and aid to dependent children cases to federal-state rolls, thus reducing the cost to the state.

The state reported that 5,124 more persons lost private jobs than gained new ones.

DOCTORS stress remaining in bed until the body temperature is normal. Sound advice.

You know how weak you feel after a cold. Colds play havoc in weakening the body. The story is well told in the blood picture. It is important to build back body strength right away to carry the load of work, worries, and loss of sleep. A weakened body may be more susceptible to relapse or long drawn out recovery.

So reason sensibly and take the choice of millions by immediately starting on a course of S.S.S. Tonic—taken three times a day immediately before meals. In the absence of a focal infection or organic disease, you should note improvement in the way you feel and look within the first 10 days. The confidence of millions over many years is the best testimonial of this product.

TRANSFUSIONS

Impressive evidence that blood serum the colorless liquid part of blood, has possibilities of being the first effective "blood substitute" in transfusions, is presented in the Journel of the American Medical Association by three Chicago physicians. It appears to them to have even some practical advantages over blood, because the serum can be given in large amounts, does not have to conform to certain "types" and can be preserved more easily for emergency usage.

Any development in connection with transfusions is of the greatest interest and importance. Countless lives are being saved every day by transfusions, and the extent to which they are being used to keep children alive is little understood and appreciated by laymen.

In fact, I was somewhat surprised myself when I recently visited a children's hospital in a large city and saw and heard some of the achievements due to transfusions. For out in the frontier country where I have practiced all my life, blood transfusions in both adult and children cases are comparatively new.

When I went through college, over 30 years ago, blood-letting was still practiced. I may have been more sold on this form of treatment than most doctors of my age because of the influence of my father, also a country doctor, who practiced 50 years ago in one community. In his day blood letting was just about the favorite treatment. Medical teaching of the time supported it.

I still have instruments for blood letting, or wet cupping, as it was sometimes called, used by my father. The bleeding was generally started in the arm. You would tie somthing around the upper arm so the flow of blood could be controlled Then a slit was made in a vein or an artery below the turniquet with a special kind of a knife. The instrument my father used for wet-cupping was composed of a series of blades arranged so you could regulate the depth of the slice or slices.

Blood letting was supposed to be good for almost everything. Although, as I said, my father influenced my use of it, it was also true that people were used to it as a treatment and expected it. Many an old timer, then lost faith in you as a healer completely if you didn't do some blood-letting. And I think it was beneficial in the case of heavy, over-weight people suffering from pneumonia.

Such people usually have too much blood, anyway, so I would take off about a pint. This would relieve the strain on the heart and the patient would be more comfortable. The same treatment seemed to give relief to people suffering from high blood pressure. I have seen large quantities taken from such people successfully.

Besides these types of cases, I had some old patients who used to come to me every spring to be bled. Some people believed in sulphur and molasses to clear up the system and purify the blood, but others thought they should be bled in the spring. They always claimed that they felt better after the wet-cupping.

For a long, long time after the value of transfusions came to be known, I was uneasy about resorting to them. I hadn't learned anything about their technique in school, so I had to pick it up myself. Nowadays, a physician makes himself up-to-date on such things in clinics and post-graduate courses. I have less hesitancy about them now, but out in my country district they are not so simple a matter as they are in hospitals.

There has been an urgent need for an effective blood substitute. Even in large hospitals and in large cities where blood can be secured with relative promptness there are situations in which immediate availability and injection of a good blood substitute would improve treatment. This new serum technique promises to be just what is needed.

AROUND CITY HALL

During the current week Mayor Charles B. Mayne employed his emergency powers to aid Streets Director William H. Dunlap and empoyes clean snow from city thoroughfares. Last year the council adopted an ordinance providing a maximum number of employes who could be employed in the streets department. When the heavy snow descended the provisions of the ordinance made matters such that if employes were added no payment could be made. City solicitors, when asked by Mayor Mayne, if under his emergency powers he could take over the street department, informed him such would be legal. Council adopted his resolution. This is why Mayor Mayne and Streets Commissioner Dunlap both were on the job day and night. The department has been handed back to Dunlap.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne, as police magistrate, today stated that, in his opinion, one-half of the persons who become overloaded with the bowl that grieves, are drawing money through some form of relief work. He reiterated his statement, issued yesterday, that he does not believe anyone should abuse the way the government is endeavoring to care for people out of regular employment. It is probable, according to his statement, that those who do not take his tip will find themselves shorn from such money.

Meehan Pleased With Cooperation On Relief Pageant

Chairman Expresses Appreciation For Splendid Response By Citizens

Dr. John A. Meehan, General Chairman of the Junior Red Cross Pageant has been gratified by the excellent cooperation given the Junior Red Cross by not only the pastors of the Polish and Finnish churches, but by the local merchants, the School Board, the City Fire and the Penna. Power Co., and many individuals.

The confidence placed in the Red Cross is not only apparent here but throughout the world. Rev. V. V. Stancelewski, Rector of St. Phillips and James Church express this confidence in a note written to Dr. Meehan under date of February 15th which reads:

"Since my reports are completed, and work finished; I feel that further activities on my part are not essential.

It is advisable that the American Red Cross officials transact all business; pertaining to the Polish-Finnish affair."

Many other groups and individuals feels the same way for in the entire history of the American Red Cross, all money given by the people for relief at home or abroad is used only for relief and the administration of such money is carried by the Red Cross as a part of its obligation to the people.

There are many things to cause sudden death.

Respiratory disease may end life in a day or two.

Diseases of heart and blood vessels cause most sudden deaths.

With the adoption of the budget and the setting of the tax levy at 4½ mills, the county now has the lowest tax rate it has had in a lot of years. As a matter of fact the levy for general purposes, three mills is as low as it has ever been in the 20th century.

Up until 1926 the county had no poor or institutional tax due to the fact that each political sub-division took care of its own poor problems. Hence the tax levied prior to 1926 was for general purposes only.

In 1900 the levy was 4 mills. For the next five years it was 3½, then in 1906, 1907 and 1908 it was three mills the lowest it ever was. From that it started to climb and went as high as eight mills. By 1925 it was six mills.

In 1926 the county took over the work of caring for the indigent and a levy of two mills was placed for poor purposes. The general levy was 6½ mills a total of 8½ mills. The highest year was 1936 when the total levy was 10½ mills due to a heavy load in the poor department.

The new total of 4½ mills will be good news to every home owner, every plant owner or manager, everybody who pays taxes. As a concrete example of what it means. If you paid $55 county taxes in 1936, that load will be down to $22.50 this year.

This may be a coincidence or it may be that Uncle Sam reads this colyum. Whatever it is, the fact is that the revenue tax stamp issuances in the office of Register and Recorder Orville Potter have been audited by the Federal people, the first time in the history of any one now in the office.

Some days ago this colyum mentioned that no audit was ever made of revenue stamp issuances. A man sold a property, came in and declared the amount of money involved was $1 and other valuable considerations". He purchased the number of tax stamps he said the deed required. The probabilities are that 99.9 percent of the time it was right but nobody could ever say whether it was or not save the persons involved in the sale.

The government never paid any attention to an audit or check of the sales until this week, shortly after mention was made here. And so now they are auditing them.

It may be just a coincidence.

Several sentences were handed down by the court Saturday morning. William Eckley, up for assault and battery drew six months in the county jail. Ernest McCreary, William Sigelow and Ernest Fickle, burglary were paroled for two years upon payment of the costs and $25 for the use of the county.

Red Cross Lists Expenditures In War Torn Lands

Over Million Dollars Spent To Aid Polish And Finnish Refugees

LOCAL CHAPTER SHIPS SUPPLIES

The American Red Cross has spent more than a million dollars to date on war relief, covering five months of hostilities advices received by the Lawrence County Chapter state. In addition, surgical dressings and clothing, the material for which alone cost approximately $300,000—have been financed and produced by chapter volunteers throughout the United States.

Relief surveys conducted in Europe by the American Red Cross delegates, the International Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Societies reveal that relief in most cases can be best given by shipping supplies, rather than cabling funds.

On a basis of greater emergency needs, Poland and Finland have been given the major portion of the relief supplies originating in this country. Poland's forty millions, suffering the aftermath of war, are in desperate straits. Approximately 400,000 men, women and children have been forced from their homes in Finland.

Mrs. James W. Rhodes, production chairman and Mrs. Robert N. Garland, chairman of knitting have received the national report of 2,000,000 volunteer hours having been given by chapter volunteers. The Lawrence County Chapter's records show to date that the volunteers here have donated approximately 8,750 hours. This includes the hours of Mrs. John McIlwraith's Motor Corps members. By giving this amount of time the national volunteers have made 1,750,000 surgical dressings and 225,000 articles of clothing.

To date general chairman of production, LePere Matthews, reports 400 garments cut and being worked on and 150 articles being knitted. Mr. Matthews has purchased with Mrs. Rrodes' and Mrs. Garland's assistance, 300 pounds of yarn at the cost of $465 and 2000 yards of flannels at the cost of $296.

Contributions

Although the American Red Cross has not yet conducted a drive for war relief funds, $567,518 in voluntary contributions have been received. All contributions have been "ear marked" for Poland, $326,838; Finland $238,988; France $6,314; Great Britain $2,767; and Germany $25.00.

It has been possible for the Red Cross to spend in excess of a million dollars to date because of a million dollar fund appropriated from reserves of the organization in the early days of the war.

Finnish Relief

A total of $238,988 has been spent to date by the American Red Cross for Finnish relief, clearing through the International Red Cross committee and the Finnish Red Cross. Chapters have made 38,648 garments for Finland shipments all leaving New York as adequate cargo quantities are assembled.

Polish Relief

Relief expenditures of the American Red Cross for Polish war victims now total $397,434 exclusive of more than 50,000 chapter produced garments.

An agreement made between the American Red Cross and the German Red Cross, guaranteed impartial distribution of American Red Cross relief supplies in German-occupied Poland. The German government agreed to have A. R. C. supplies distributed through the Polish Red Cross, Jewish and other agencies working in the German occupied area. A central warehouse has been set up in Cracow. A large shipment of finished garments was made this week from the Red Cross production headquarters in the Wood's building.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Although the filing of nominating petitions with the state board of elections has been slow in starting, it is expected to assume the usual landslide proportions as the final day for filing approaches. For the first time in years, the first week saw not one petition filed, but with the start of the second week they began to come in. All petitions, except those for independent parties, must be filed by March 4. Independent filings will be received until April 3.

Apparently all but one of Pennsylvania's 34 congressmen will seek re-election this year. The one exception is Robert G. Allen, Westmoreland county Democrat, who has announced he will not seek re-election. Allen said he was willing to run against U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, however, if the party leaders would support him.

In the Fayette-Somerset county district, where Rep. J. Buell Snyder is seeking re-election, Mrs. Mary Freedman, fomer public utility commission clerk, announced she would oppose him in the Democratic primaries. Francis E. Walter's attempt at a sixth term in Northampton county will be opposed in the Democratic primary by Charles H. Unangst, former county commissioner.

Although State Treasurer F. Clair Ross has not announced his candidacy for auditor general as yet, it was learned that thousands of nominating petitions are now being circulated in all 67 counties. Ross' formal announcement is expected as soon as the political situation involving his mentor, Senator Guffey, is cleared up.

Heading the P. W. A. legal staff assigned to the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission is D. N. Boland, Wilkes-Barre attorney. Boland is a brother of Congressman Patrick J. Boland, Democratic whip in the house. He was formerly counsel to the National Recovery administrator and later counsel to the P. W. A. at Washington.

Governor James' Lincoln day speech at Grand Rapids, Mich., attracted considerable attention outside of Pennsylvania. At least two of New York's foremost papers sent correspondents from New York to cover the speech in detail.

Senator Davis' speech about "Men In Pennsylvania . . With Fat Pocketbooks" has aroused considerable interest in Republican circles. The senior senator from Pennsylvania, apparently irked because other Republican leaders did not invite him to their conferences at which they chose Jay Cooke, Philadelphia banker, to run for U. S. senator against the present Democratic incumbent, Senator Guffey, stated that "No few men in Pennsylvania, no matter how fat their pocketbooks may be . . can pretend to be the Republican party of our state. Republicans are now wondering whether Davis will back Charles Scott Williams, Lycoming county district attorney, for senator.

Many Inspection Stations Refused

Appointments Cancelled Because Of Complaints From Motorists

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—With the interest of more than 2,000,000 car owners in Pennsylvania at stake, over 500 "official inspection stations" have been eliminated by state motor police because of complaints that the system was deteriorating, according to the Keystone Automobile club.

Cancellation of appointment of 526 official stations and the suspension of 164 others brought the comment from Secretary of Revenue William J. Hamilton, Jr., that every means will be used to guarantee honest and fair inspection. He said:

"The motoring public will get a fair deal. If we can prevent it, there will be no wholesale peddling of inspection stickers, no padding of repair bills, no shoddy, haphazard inspections. We want to keep ancient wrecks and death traps off our roads.

"More than 2,000,000 car owners in Pennsylvania are entitled to that, and I am confident a vast majority of them will be heartily in sympathy with this effort."

Russian Troops Foresee Victory

Believe That Red Forces Will Overrun Finland Within Few Weeks

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Feb 19—Belief that Soviet troops will overrun Finland within a few weeks spread in Russia today as the Red army high command issued a communique indicating that Koivisto Fort on the western end of the Finnish Mannerheim Line has been cut off

The war bulletin claimed that the Soviet forces had registered major advances on the Carelian Isthmus, capturing three towns on the Gulf of Finland, and that the Finnish defenders were continuing their retreat.

(The London News Chronicle reported from Moscow that the Red army, now only four miles from Viborg, was building up a gigantic crescendo expected to culminate in a smashing blow this week.)

"The offensive on the Carelian Isthmus developed successfully and the enemy is continuing to retreat," the communique stated.

"Soviet troops reached the Salmenkaita river between Lakes Muoksi and Juaranpaa, occupied the fortified area and village of Muolaa, the Somme station on the coastal railway six miles south of Viborg and also the town of Johannes and Maksalahti station on the coastal railway, thus reaching the western coast of the Gulf of Finland north of Bjoerkoe Island.

(Johannes and Maksalahti are both north of Koivisto, where the important Finnish fort is located. Loss of the fort would be a serious military set-back to the Finns.)

Plan To Arraign Young Woman For Death Of Husband

Malicious Killing Charge Faces 16-Year-Old Mountaineer Mother

(International News Service)

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. Feb. 19.—Accused of the "notion" slaying of her 27-year-old husband, Okey Long, on a snow-bound farm at Silver Hill, 23 miles from here, pretty Violet Long, 16, was to be arraigned today before 'Squire J. H. Dulaney on a charge of malicious killing.

Brief funeral services were held for Long at the Mason funeral home in nearby Procter yesterday, during which the young mother collapsed. She was returned to her jail cell when the funeral cortege wended its way through the mountains to the family burial plot at Silver Hill.

Mrs. Long, mother of a three-year-old boy, contended she didn't know the shotgun was loaded when she told her husband "I've got a notion to shoot you" and grabbed the weapon. Meanwhile, Mrs. Frank C. Berger, wife of the Sheriff of Wetzel county, said Mrs. Long was an expectant mother again.

A charge of malicious killing has been filed against the pretty young woman, who was married at 12 and a mother at 13.

The couple's son, Ogle, three, is staying with Mrs. Long's parents at Waynesburg, Pa.

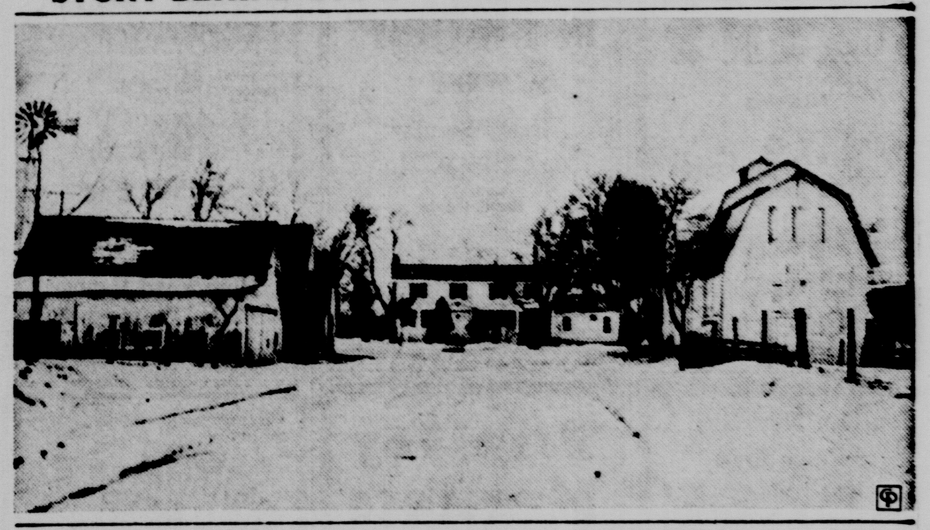
STORY BEHIND LOUIS' PURCHASE OF THIS ESTATE



This is the Spring Hill farm near Utica, Mich., purchased by Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis for training purposes. But there's a story more important which goes with it. Touring the estate, Joe found a white couple, Mr. and Mrs. Wig Lerich, living in a squalid shanty on the place. Louis discovered that Lerich was a grandson of the man who built the farm and who had used the place as one of the last stops in the "underground railway" for escaping slaves. Louis, a killer in the ring but a kind soul at heart, moved the Lerichs into the main house and gave them all the things they need. The whole incident was conducted in secret—but secrets leak out.

Fans Expect To See Fast Fights In Arena Tonight

Two Diamond Belt Kings, One Runner-Up Among Participants

MORAN, ARKETT AND RETARDO ON CALENDAR

Scenes reminiscent of days when Henry Firpo, Willie Davies, Midget Wolgast, Emmett Rocco, Johnny Datto and others in the higher-up-brackets of pro' pugilism sent fans into frenzied excitement should be repeated in The Arena tonight when the higher-ups in amateur boxing ranks participate in eight scraps in The Arena, Grove street. The first bout will begin at 8:30 p. m.

What causes one to believe that spectacularism will predominate some of the battles, is due to the participation by Diamond Belt champions, runners-up, scienced boxers and others who rate as "club fighters" meaning the type which bear in and toss leather until either participant is vanquished.

The "Henry Firpo" of the amateur ranks hereabouts, one Jack Grimes, Aliquippa, holder of the Diamond Belt middleweight championship of this district will fight Sully Tonti, Midland youth, who, not so many months ago, gave Grimes a fine "going-over." Being the divisional champion, Jack believes no champ should hold a title unless he actually is the best.

Which one is the most cunning is difficult to say. In science, the boys who have seen both fight give Jack the edge. However, in punch, the Midland youth is said to excel. However, like a card game, a bout is ne'er over until the last punch is dealt. Intense rivalry between the Beaver Valley middleweights augurs for a fast bout; possibly a knockout.

Chuck Arkett of West Pittsburg has an opportunity tonight not often before obtained. In some ways it is his "golden chance." If he can dump Pete Spotti, the Diamond Belt welterweight champion, he will be the most sought welterweight in this district. Both are rugged and exceptionally good punchers for amateurs. It would not be surprising were the joust to end in a knock-out. Arkett beat Joey Simms here last month.

All Star Battles

Mike Wukas, Aliquippa, winner over Andy Wertz, now a pro, in a January bout here, will take on Sammy Secrete of Cecil who lost the Diamond Belt 147-pound title to Spotti in Pittsburgh recently. Wukas, a cagey battler is likely to make Secrete extend himself. In fact, some of his supporters believe he has a chance of copping the decision from "Rabbin' Sam."

Tommy Yarosz, 147, Monaca, brother to ex-champ Teddy, will take on rugged Sonny Horne of Niles who slammed around Sammy Porto of Monaca, here, in January. Tom's other brother, Joey, 130, will oppose Jimmie Tabor of Niles, a stablemate of Horne. These two bouts should have a lot of color. The Yarosz boys are clever. What they can do to Horne and Tabor is a question.

Fans will welcome the Nick Retardo, Ellwood City, vs. Billy Murray, Cecil, lightweight fight. Murray beat Frankie Moran here. In fact he turned the trick without much ado. Nick is a good puncher, stands up under a shellacking and hopes to break through Murray's science and lay the Cecil lad for 10 seconds. Murray opines he will come through the victor.

Benny Malone of Pittsburgh will fight Frankie Moran, local southpaw who battered Mike Candeila of Youngstown, for a decision here in January. They weigh 130. Frankie had a cold the night he met Murray, his handlers claim and hope he keeps as fit as he now is. If so, they believe he will once again show the punches and speed that won him a place in fandom's grace.

The teaser will be the first bout. Melio Donelli, Niles, who beat Al Vankovic of Monaca, in this city last month, will exchange leather caresses with Ellwood City's Ray Lacasano at 130 pounds.

Because of interest in the eight mill-fests tonight the doors will be opened at 7:30 p. m. The Arena will be warm, despite outside weather conditions.

The Jefferson Athletic show is promoting the show which has the sanction of the State Athletic commission and A. A. U.

Plan Badminton Tourney Here

Contests Will Take Place In Washington High Gym In March

New Castle has been selected as the site of the 1940 tournament of the Western Pennsylvania Badminton Association, it was announced today. The tournament will be played in the gymnasium of the George Washington junior high school on March 15-16. G. Browne Zahniser is the tournament manager.

The association was formed in New Castle some years ago and since then tournaments have been held here, in Pittsburgh and in Erie.

One group of players, The canadian, will probably be missing this year due to the war. Many of the Canadian stars who competed here are now in service while the women players are engaged in war work. However, amateurs from Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Detroit and other cities will be present.

The two cups most vigorously fought for are the New Castle News cup for women's singles and The Castleton cup for men's singles. Both of them have been from New Castle to Toronto, Canada, but no player has ever yet won them three times in a row for permanent possession.

PRESIDENTS TAKE MEET

Washington & Jefferson defeated Grove City college in a water meet Saturday, 49 to 17.

Sports World Ramblings

Local Tales in Tidbits:—Johnny Dean's next foe may be the capable Freddie Lenn, who has displayed his pugilistic wares in several of Pittsburgh mitt mananas. The middleweight singing Marine is deing daily chores in the gym. The match, if arranged, will be staged in Youngstown . . . Section III and 20 teams wind up another season on Tuesday night. Unlike past campaigns, the titles have already been won.

Johnny Carik, who is the property of the St. Louis Browns, expects to receive word from the front office soon. He will likely be ordered to report to one of the southern farms. If his pitching is up to the dotted "I", Carik will branch out into faster company. The ex-Hurricane athlete was rewarded with a contract following an auspicious performance on the slab during a baseball school in Beaver Falls in '39.

Rosters of American Association and Middle-Atlantic teams will include the names of a few local diamond gems. Fred Shaffer will be back with Louisville of the American Association. The blond mound ace starts his fourth season . . . Henry Marshall of Hillsville, whose performance in the Middle-Atlantic loop drew favorable comments from all corners, may be hiked to the A. A. Marshall may get a tryout with Indianapolis. Before the tarpaulins are rolled across the fields for the winter, a few others may branch into faster company.

Diamond Stuff for Your Pipe:—The Yanks are 25 years old. In February, 1915, the late Colonels Ruppert and Til Huston bought the club and started their rehabilitation program . . . "Bobby" Feller was pleased to learn that Dick Bartell would play in the A. L. During the 1937 spring sessions Bobby caused Dick to fan the breeze 11 straight times . . . Bobby Dorr, the Cubs' groundkeeper, has living quarters in the park!

Bits of This and That:—Arturo Godoy's take-in for his Louis scrap was $13,540. After Uncle Sam, his manager and a few others got cuts the Chilean had $5,000 left . . . London's air defense regulations require every other seat at sports events to be left vacant for the duration of the war . . . Clemson and Boston college grid players have received 10-gallon hats, miniature bales of cotton and biographies of Vice President Garner, because they participated in the Cotton Bowl game.

Afield And Astream

With Lawrence County Sportsmens Association

By GEORGE SILLMAN

First of all, I believe I owe someone an apology. It has been two weeks since your writer has had anything to say as far as this column was concerned. But once in awhile, there are times when one has more to say and do, than could be written under this heading . . . Last week Jimmie Cypher, director Jimmie Frisbee, second vice president and yours truly all of this club, attended the Sportsmen's Federation meeting at Harrisburg. So many things happened, and so many words were spoken in those three days, that it would take a special edition of this news to print everything that went on. Some of the resolutions to my estimation were good, others not so good. In all the sportsmen of Pennsylvania had 157 resolutions that each and everyone thought was just about the 'nuts' to conserve, preserve and shake-up our great out-door recreation. But the resolution committee struck out and condensed them to as few and short as was humanly possible. It took all of Sunday, and part of the early hours of Monday to prepare for the 'Pow-wow' to be held Monday.

Monday morning the Federation called the meeting to order, and from then on, it was one two three, as the gavel struck the table, as each resolution was ordered either passed or defeated.

The fox is one animal that causes us trouble in the fields, and so it did at the Federation meeting. The Fox Hunter thought that someone was trying to kill his sport. He would get up and 'spout' his piece. Soon the Fur Trapper, was heard from, what are you 'guys' trying to do, kill off all the fox. You need fox to control, vermin, and sickly game animals. Then the every day hunter or sportsman would get up and say the——with the fox. They are killing off our sick and healthy birds too. Put a bounty on 'em and get rid of them, and so on. That was just putting it mildly.

But there you have just a slight idea of what goes on, at one of these meetings. Several Lawrence County resolutions were passed. Which Odd McCleary, Delegate for Lawrence county handled so ably. At the conclusion of the meeting the election of officers for the coming year, resulted in re-electing all past officers. John Youngman, president; Mr. Merrits, vice president; and Dr. Mortimer, secretary treasurer. Odd McCleary, of Lawrence county was nominated for the vice presidency, but lost against the bigger guns of the state. But he was at least considered, from the list of 65 other county delegates present. So we didn't feel too bad about the matter. Keep your 'eye' on the McCleary we think he's going to get places in the hunting and fishing game . . .

While in Harrisburg, any hunters or fisherman's trip would not be complete unless they paid the Game Commission and Fish Commission's office a visit. At the Game Commissions office our own Judd Turner, assistant to Seth Gorden, Ex-Director of the Commission took us about the various offices and explained their functions. If I remember correctly, we started in the Bounty Office. Here an expert was checking furs sent in for bounty. Some of the furs, we learned had been killed several years ago, some a year ago and so on. But the receiving agent is nobodys 'cold potato' so to speak. He explained to us the method in detecting the age of the hides, and he claimed that by this method he was never off more than one or two months at the most. So if any trappers, or sportsmen try to collect bounties on red fox that have been killed before the bounty was placed on them, will find themselves in trouble when Mr. Fur Tester, checks on the time of kill, and I understand the Commission carries a penalty for anyone trying to pull these fast ones. . . . Then Mr. Turner, took us to the office of Leo. Luttringer, Editor in Chief of the "Game News" and explained that the desk next to the window was the place the game news took its form, and was put together by Mr. Luttringer. In other words the birth-place of the famous magazine. Thousands of pictures in the files, have been used in making the plates for pictures that you and I have seen and read about. . . . Then to the office of the 'big boss' we went. Yes, it was nice. Mr. Gorden, sits on one side of the desk, and our host sits on the other. Here many a law has been made and many things aired out that might have been about you or I. Who knows? . . . Then to another department—Mr. Turner, showed us the weapons that were confiscated from illegal hunters, deer spotters, dangerous muzzle-loaders that wardens have picked up, that they thought were too dangerous to hunt with. Shotguns with barrels no longer than a thirty-eight pistol, and etc. . . . . Then to the department, where our game kills were being checked and counted. Mine might have been among them but I did not ask them to pick it out, maybe I didn't count my rabbit kill right or sumpin' and that would have been a heckava place for me to be caught, right in the Commissions office. So we passed into the ware rooms where millions of posters, such as we have seen on the trees and sign boards while in the woods this past fall. . . . The office that caught my eye was, where the commission's moving pictures are put together, and titled and so on. I could have spent the rest of the week, checking pictures and so on, oh! you catch on. Next week I'll try to tell you a little about Commissioner French's office.

Fellers, don't forget our "Rosie" White is in the Jameson Hospital at this writing. We understand that no visitors are allowed at this time, but the mail man is still allowed to visit him twice a day, so why not drop him a card, and let him know that we are all pullin' fer 'im. Best o' luck 'Rosie' from the gang . . .

Pirates Need Second Sacker

Manager Frankie Frisch In Pittsburgh For Conference With Prexy

RANKIN HIGH IS TOURNEY FAVORITE

By ED. KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19.—Fragmentary comments:

The Pittsburgh Pirates baseball scouts today are combing the woods for an infielder to fill their weakest spot—second base . . . Frankie Frisch, new manager of the Buccaneers, is in town for a series of conferences with the Pirate officialdom, and predicts there will be plenty of hustle at the spring training base . . .

Look for an important sports announcement from the northeastern part of the state shortly . . . Frank Filchok, a star professional footballer for the Washington Redskins, has a brother, Martin, who draws cartoons for the Pennsylvania state game news . . . the Filchoks are from Redstone, Pa. . . .

Why all the fuss about Joe Louis' chances against the former heavyweight boxing greats? . . . How are you going to prove it anyway? . . . It's a futile as attempting to pick a national collegiate football champion . . .

Soose Has Rooter

Billy Soose's biggest rooter in his disastrous fight with Georgie Abrams in Pittsburgh a week ago was "four-eyed" Lewis, self-styled "world's greatest gate crasher" . . . He even has cards printed saying so . . . "Four-eyed," as he calls himself, is going to attempt to crash the next session of congress, if he can attain the "sartorial perfection" of a congressman, he said . . . the bespectacled gate crasher is from Farrell, Pa., and claimed to be a neighbor of Soose.

Pitt's baseball stock soared many digits when Edgar Jones, one of the Scranton Jones boys, came out for indoor baseball practice the other day . . . Jones, also a star footballer, gave a creditable exhibition of his pitching talents against the St. Louis Gas Housers a few seasons back, and is so good that a couple of major league scouts are trying to sign him to a contract . . .

Rankin Favored

Rankin high school, from the borough of the same name, is mentioned as a pre-tourney favorite to win the Pennsylvania interscholastic basketball championship scheduled for the near future . . .

Why not a basketball game between Villanova and Duquesne for the state intercollegiate title? . . . Both quintets have only lost one game . . . and the Finns could use the money . . .

It sure must be funny for the Cobbs, Wagners, Speakers, et al., to read that the Buffalo Bisons will back a baseball club in Erie if a lighting plant will be installed . . . For back in their day they learned their three R's under lights and did their ball playing in the afternoon—as it should be . . .

We weigh in as against the proposed resolution to waive the intentional walk in baseball out of existence . . . The "free ticket," as we say around the diamond, is good strategy and gives teams that can't afford to buy the big sluggers an even-stephen chance against the team with the velvet to buy the power hitters . . .

Democracy at its best is brotherhood in action. To commend that idea, and in a degree to implement it, is the purpose of the national observance of Brotherhood week, February 18-25, under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

It is appropriate that the week chosen for this observance should be that of Washington's Birthday, for no one of our national leaders has been more conspicuous for his advocacy of the principles which Brotherhood week exalts.

Fire in the house, a two-story frame structure, was caused by an overheated furnace and honeycombed at various places in the wall before being discovered.

Although handicapped in reaching the home by the icy street conditions caused by the heavy fall of snow in the afternoon, firemen had the fire under control soon after their arrival. Contents of the house were damaged by water.

An hour earlier, the watchman's station at the Sixth street railroad crossing was badly damaged by fire caused by an overheated stove.

Cold Finish Bows To Mechanical Five

Second-Half Shelby League Leaders Handed First Defeat Saturday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 19.—In the first game of the second round in the second half, the Mechanical upset the league leading and previously unbeaten Cold Finish cagers by the count of 49 to 38. The Cold Finish still holds a slight lead over the second place Cold Draw with 5 wins and 1 loss to the latters 4 wins and 1 setback.

After being held to even terms in the opening period, the fourth place Mechanical five gained the lead which they never relinquished. Walter Robuck, Paul Cunningham and Bill Marshall were the spearheads of the winning attack.

The first half champion Cold Draw quint won a game by forfeit from the last place Hot Finish and went on to stage an exhibition match with the Hot Finish, which borrowed Friendhoff and Greco from the Inspection with the latter winning out 46 to 45 in a thriller. Johnny Ursu decided the contest with a two pointer from short range as the game ended. Friendhoff and Gottuso shared scoring honors both with 13 points.

Beginning Wednesday, the Hot Finish and Inspection will combine teams with the exception of Cunningham, Cole, Shingleton and Pishioneri, who will be given to the Mechanical. This is being done in order to strengthen the league and avoid forfeit games and to provide better basketball for the fans. The new team will play out the Hot Finish schedule and assume the Inspection standing with the All-Stars to play on the nights the Inspection is scheduled.

The All Stars will seek their seventh win tonight when they play the Strong East Palestine Kibitzers, at the Shelby court, at 8:30 p. m. The Ellwood Junior High cagers will play the preliminary game at 7:30 p. m.

Dazey Case Witness

Miss Frances Hansbury

Testifying that she had heard Dr. George Dazey, Santa Monica, Cal., physician, once mutter drunkenly of having "committed a perfect crime," Miss Frances Hansbury, above, nurse and former office assistant of Dr. Dazey, is a witness at his trial on charges of murdering his wife, Doris, four years ago.

If you have seen the stained glass of the great west rose-window of Chartres cathedral, when the sunlight streams through, so that it seems to cease to be glass but living jewels set in black velvet, you have seen the loveliest window in the world.

The Belgian Congo is approximately the size of the 15 southern states of the United States.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

That was quite a little snow last evening . . . in fact, it was something to write the folks in the South about . . . it was so deep in some spots that auto traffic was at a standstill. Those lads who have been saying the past while back that "I can drive anywhere without chains" were certainly surprised to find themselves passed up by those who did have chains on their cars. More than one motorist sat in the middle of the road and spun the wheels and burned the rubber off the tires . . . and damage done to cars this way cannot be estimated . . . why not play safe and when the snows come . . . put chains on your car . . . it will help everything plenty.

Those who came to town today should have worn life-belts . . . the streets were water and ice from curb to curb . . . no, we can't honestly complain about the street department not keeping the streets clean . . . how are they going to shovel water and slush? The department has been doing very nicely throughout the past bad weather . . . we hope they continue.

* * *

This new Mayor we have says that he is going to do everything within his power to make New Castle a better place in which to live . . . and when Mayor Mayne says that, you know he means it. So let's all co-operate with the Mayor and City Council and work toward one end . . . to make New Castle what you and you, good citizens, want it to be.

There's a friend in St. Petersburg, Florida, that we think a great deal of . . . he's your friend, also, J. P. Caldwell . . . maybe more of you know him as "Deacon" . . . many articles have been written by him for this paper, and so we add another to his long list . . . you guessed it, our little girl is the topic . . .

I'm pleased to hear that you are "Dad"; I know the little woman's glad, and that you both will always plan a happy home for Gretchen Ann. There's nothing knits two loving hearts like little fingers in the tarts; and childish laughter ringing clear will make your home life doubly dear. So here's my wish as man to man, "Long life for little Gretchen Ann".

Light Selling In Day's Market

Quiet And Mixed Opening Marks New York Stock Trading

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The stock market staged a slow retreat after a quiet and mixed opening today, light selling reflecting the latest British mobilization of U. S. securities. Losses generally were limited to fractions.

Steel shares were among the softest. U. S. Steel dropped almost a point before meeting support, while Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem and Republic each gave up about a half-point.

Loft was an individual strong spot as it ran up better than a point to above 30, a new all-time high. Some of the low-priced amusements also bucked the trend for modest gains, Paramount leading the way. United Air Lines, DuPont and Goodyear were others to show small advances.

Chrysler, General Motors, American Smelting, Anaconda, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Texas Corp., U. S. Rubber, Eastman Kodak, United Aircraft and Douglas all were well under Saturday's final levels.

Lincoln Adept As Politician

Incidents In His Political Career Are Recalled By Authors

FIRST SPEECH WAS BRIEF ONE

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Not many present day politicians have the opportunity to so dumbfound their opponents as did Abraham Lincoln when he was running for Congress.

His opponent was Rev. Peter Cartwright, colorful circuit rider and Methodist evangelist. Lincoln attended a revival conducted by Rev. Cartwright while the pair were rival congressional candidates.

"All that expect to go to Heaven rise from their seats," Mr. Cartwright exhorted his hearers.

Lincoln remained seated.

"All that expect to go to hell please rise," shouted Cartwright.

Still Lincoln did not get up.

Exasperated, Rev. Cartwright declared he would "like to inquire of Mr. Lincoln where he expects to go?"

Congress His Goal

"I expect to go to Congress," retorted Lincoln without cracking a smile.

Incidentally, he did.

And perhaps some present day spellbinders might well imitate the brevity of Lincoln's maiden speech which he delivered when a candidate for the Legislature from Sangamon County, Illinois. It was made at Pappysville in 1832. The speech was brief, first, because Lincoln was young and timid and second, because his opponents had talked almost until sundown.

So, Lincoln when his turn came arose and said:

"Gentlemen-Fellow Citizens: — I presume you all know who I am. I am humble Abraham Lincoln. I have been solicited by my many friends to become a candidate for the Legislature. My politics are short and sweet, like an old woman's dance. I am in favor of a national bank. I am in favor of the internal improvement system and a high protective tariff. These are my sentiments and my political principles. If elected, I will be thankful; if not, it will be all the same."

My Dear Mr. Rentz:

Needless to say, the Lawrence County Chapter deeply appreciates the generosity extended by the News to the Junior Red Cross. Granddaughter Of Late Rev. Foulke Successful Author

Novel By Mildred Foulke Meese Is Being Very Well Received

Mildred Foulke Meese, granddaughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Foulke who resided on Boyles avenue, New Castle, and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Foulke, of Mansfield, O., is the author of "The Wagon to the Star," a book which is being so well received that the publisher, the Bobbs-Merrill Co., is asking for more.

Off the press last September, the story, designed for 'teen age readers, struck the popular fancy, and last month it received not only the honor of mention in the New York Times, but a full-length, and very favorable, review.

"Here is a high school story which seems to me is as true a portrayal of that intricate adolescent world as any realist could wish," Ellen Lewis Buell, the Times reviewer, began. She then went on to outline the story of Mary Carstens, the bewildered, over-sensitive seventeen-year-old used by Mrs. Meese as the central figure in her moving account of an adolescent trying to find her niche among equally bewildered contemporaries.

The author was also commended in a review which appeared in the Library Journal of December 1, 1939.

"The Wagon to the Star", may be found in the New Castle free public library.

Drunken Drivers Lead Offenders

Most Of Motor License Revocations Are Due To This Cause, Transeau Says

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Suspensions of motor vehicle operators' licenses have tripled in four years, T. E. Transeau, director of the revenue department's highway safety bureau, told motor club representatives at the annual secretaries conference of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

He attributed the trend to the broad program of traffic accident reduction for which the bureau is responsible.

"In 1929 and 1930," Transeau declared, "there were about 3000 suspensions, and as late as 1935, there were less than 5000. In 1937 there were less than 10,000 and in 1938 and 1939, well over 15,000."

Transeau pointed out that driving while intoxicated produced the greatest number of revocations. In 1929, 1784 permits were revoked and the peak was reached in 1937 of 3168. While during 1939, he said, only 2171 licenses were revoked for such cause.

"The greatest number of suspensions are usually for reckless driving," Transeau asserted, "but during the last two years these figures have been exceeded by suspensions for speeding, due to the policy initiated at the beginning of 1938. One significant figure in the suspension tabulation is the increase in the number of those charged incompetent to properly operate a vehicle. This reached a peak in 1939 in which there were 500 or 600 and this figure probably represents only the part of the department greater knowledge of so-called incompetent drivers rather than an increase in those deemed incompetent to operate motor vehicles."
